Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

The Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs (EVPAA) is the chief academic officer of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, and works closely with the president to establish academic strategy, develop academic initiatives, and lead the academic affairs function at the University. Reporting directly to the President, the EVPAA leads universitywide faculty support programs, collaborates with faculty to implement universitywide academic initiatives, and provides leadership for universitywide diversity and inclusion priorities. The EVPAA serves as the president’s chief advisor on academic matters and ensures the coordination of academic priorities across the central administrative offices and chancellor-led units.

The EVPAA coordinates academic programs throughout the university system in conjunction with the provosts of Rutgers University–Camden, Rutgers University–Newark, Rutgers University–New Brunswick, and Rutgers Biomedical and Health Sciences. The EVPAA chairs the Promotion Review Committee and manages the tenure and promotion process across all academic units. The EVPAA oversees the University’s international and global programs, online and continuing education, and the libraries. The EVPAA coordinates universitywide enrollment management and admissions, coordinates professional programs and other activities that extend across multiple elements of Rutgers, and leads the academic labor relations function. The EVPAA is responsible for the formulation and administration of the university’s academic policies and serves as the university officer to the Joint Boards Committee on Academic and Student Affairs.

Direct reports to the EVPAA include the vice presidents for enrollment management, academic administration, global and international affairs, institutional diversity and inclusion, continuing studies and distance education, and institutional research, as well as the vice president for information services and university librarian. Rutgers University Press and the Office of Student Veterans Services report to the EVPAA.

We plan to select a qualified candidate for this important position who has significant experience as a senior faculty member as well as relevant administrative experience. Those who meet these qualifications and are interested in this executive-level position should apply for the position online by sending a cover letter and CV to evpaa.search@rutgers.edu by July 24.

Rutgers’ Commitment to Diversity and Equal Employment Opportunity

Rutgers University follows a policy to provide affirmative action and equal employment opportunity to all its employees and applicants for employment. Decisions as to selection and advancement, and all other terms and conditions of employment, are made without regard to: Race/Color, National Origin/Ancestry, Religion, Age, Sex/Gender, Ethnicity, Disability, Sexual orientation, Gender Identity and Expression, Genetic Information, Marital Status, and Veteran or Military Status.

As a university, Rutgers recognizes that the diversity of its workforce should reflect the diversity of the state and the students we serve. We strive to cultivate a culture of inclusion at Rutgers – one in which individuals of various backgrounds and belief systems can come together in an environment of mutual respect, learning from each other and becoming better-prepared to participate in an increasingly globalized marketplace of ideas.